The screenshot shows the AT4Maine.org website. At the top, there is a navigation bar with a search box containing the text "Enter a keyword or phrase to search." and a shopping cart icon with a red notification bubble. Below the navigation bar, the main content area features a large heading: "Welcome to Maine's Assistive Technology device loan program! A free resource for Mainers of all ages and all abilities." Below this, a sub-heading reads "AT4Maine is a free service offered by Maine CITE". The text continues: "On this site we have Assistive Technology (AT) devices that you can:" followed by a bulleted list: "• Have demonstrated - see how they work!" and "• Borrow - take to school, home or work and use for a few weeks." Below the list, it states "Borrowers may have up to five (5) devices checked out at a time." and a link for "Five Locations". The text then says "The five statewide AT4Maine Partners have hundreds of AT devices available for Mainers to 'try before you buy.' They are located at:" followed by a partially visible list item "• Maine CITE". To the right of the text is an image showing silhouettes of people, including one in a wheelchair, standing on a beach at sunset. On the left side of the screenshot, there is a dark sidebar with the Maine CITE logo and navigation links: "Login or Create Account", "Home", "ITEMS", "Newly Listed Items", "Item List", "CONTACT", "Contact Us", and "Participating Programs".
